Announcements

A Board of Trade meeting was held on June 1st, with 17 present. Several matters of interest were discussed among them the swimming pool and through this meeting work has now commenced on repairing the pool so the children will have a place to swim besides the ditches and canal. An invitation is here by extended to anyone who is not a member of the Board of Trade to become one by paying their fee of $1.00 to anyone of the following: J.R. Donaldson, A. McKee, J. Schaffer or W. Y. McNeill.

Our next meeting is on Thurs. June 22nd, and we are looking for everyone interested in helping to make our Board of Trade the best in the West to attend.

lion dollars, or 34 million dollars more than the 1942 gross value.

Production of linseed oil cake and oil cake meal in Canada increased about 70 per cent between 1939 and 1944, while domestic consumption in the same period more than doubled.

Russia is the largest producer of sunflower seed, and Argentina is now running second, having displaced Rumania. Other important producers in the years before the war were Bulgaria, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

The oil produced from soybeans is used largely for edible purposes. The latest estimate of usage indicates that about 90 per cent of the product goes into foods including shortening salad oils, and salad dressings. The oil cake and oil-cake meal by-products of oil production are high protein feeds for live stock and are greatly in demand.

COUNTRESS NEWS

Ralph Ferguson has been visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ferguson.

Some of the Countresses attended the Gospel Meetings held by the "Ladies Trio" in Bassano.

Don Goudie had the misfortune to break his collarbone and several ribs when he was thrown from his saddle pony last week.

Marjory Goudie arrived home after spending the winter in Washington USA where she went to school.

Roy Thompson and Eddie Cador both in the RCAF visited there respective homes this week.

Are you seeking lasting peace and happiness? Turn across Christ as your personal Savior and confess Him openly. Apart from Christ there is no real joy. We read in Ecclesiastes that Solomon sought in vain satisfaction in pleasure and the things of the world; then in riches, wisdom, folly and riot; but he found that everything this world has to offer is only vanity and vanity of spirit! Let us hear the conclusion of the matter: Fear God and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.

For God shall bring every work into judgment with every secret thing whether it be good, or whether it be evil.

Forget not the assembling of yourselves together! Come to church Sunday evening at 8:30 P. M. at the Countess Hall.

On June 15 the pupils of Pau (Cantonese) School culminated their year's work with an auction sale. The teachers, Miss Grosfield and Miss Parkinson auctioned the forty-five small household articles which brought a total of $105.00. Well done, boys and girls!

BASSANO NEWS

The Junior meeting was held on June 14th, at the home of Mrs. E. Maiver with Laura as hostess. Everyone had a very enjoyable evening. Our next meeting will be held at the usual place at seven o'clock.

Inflation and Deflation... Evil Companions

Past years have always brought some degree of inflation.

Goods were scarce... Prices and wages skyrocketed to unnatural heights.

Then one day the war stopped...

In due time goods became plentiful again.

Scarcity prices could no longer be demanded and "spiralling" prices went "pop!"

and came down with a bang.

people stopped buying because they thought prices would go still lower merchandise dropped in value—retailers went bankrupt factories closed and unemployment followed farms were foreclosed

distress was general and deflation was in the saddle

That is why in this war prices are controlled—so that they will not ruin buyers in a rise or sellers in a slump.

Price ceilings—wage and salary controls—rationing—Victory Bonds—increased taxation—are all part of a grand strategy to head off inflation—thus preventing Deflation.

PREVENTION OF INFLATION IS THE BEST PROTECTION AGAINST DEFLATION

INVITING YOUR PATRONAGE

When harvest starts this season considerable space will be available for delivery of grain in country elevators. Many customers of Alberta Pool Elevators have been prevented from delivering to these elevators in the past few years due to congestion of facilities. This fall they will likely have the opportunity of again becoming patrons of this farmers' grain organization.

DIVORCES IN ENGLAND

Last year there were 9,450 divorces in England—almost 2,000 more than the preceding year, and far above the previous figures. The Bishop of Chichester says: "The root trouble is the widespread abandonment of the Christian religion."

CHINA'S GREATEST NEED

Dr. Y. Y. Tsai, an Anglican Bishop of China, recently said: "We don't want experts in China. Of course we will welcome a few acknowledged authorities in education, religion and science, but China will produce her own experts in every field. What China needs is more consecrated preachers and pastors."

MOSLEM EXPECTATION

A missionary writes from North Africa: "Recently, when I visited a cemetery, where I placed flowers on a line of graves where lay the bodies of American youths killed in action, I met a Moslem and told him what I had done, and then added that my heart was full of sorrow. Here is the response he made: 'Friend, I have confidence in you because you speak Arabic. Let me tell you where we are. These are the last days. The Man of the Hour, who is a Moslem, may appear at any time now, and if he comes he will complete this slaughter of Christianity now proceeding among yourselves and make Islam a world religion and make Islam its ruler.'"

A Demobilized Army

The only "army" demobilized by this war (one which is sorely needed, namely, the Salvation Army, according to Watchman Examiner, the Salvation Army, after sixty years in France, has been totally disbanded in that country. The 365 officers and staff workers have been forced by the Vichy authorities to give up their work.

BIGGEST BUSINESS

Our federal government has become by far the biggest business in the country. It carries more than 3,800,000 employees on its civil payroll, according to Reader's Digest. This is a job holder for every three men in the military service. The monthly federal payroll was $75,000,000 in 1933; now (exclusive of military personnel) it is $522,000,000.

BULLET-PROOF BIBLES

The American Bible Society, which sells a special edition of the Bible for soldiers and sailors at 20c a copy, warns against those so-called "bullet-proof" Bibles which bear the ABS imprint and are peddled to the superstitious and credulous for from $2.50 to $6 a copy.

They are ABS Bibles, all right, obtained under false pretenses, and adorned with thin lead covers that cost less than 15 cents. "The Bible isn't bullet-proof; it's what's inside that's important," said William L.

Darby, Washington secretary of ABS.

AMERICA AND ARMAGEDDON

Many have been puzzled as to America's place in the prophetic scriptures. Will America be destroyed in the Battle of Armageddon when it is fought in Palestine? If so, by what means? One answer appears in the fact that our God is acquired stakes in the Mediterranean Sea and Indian Ocean area for the sake of oil. Experts say that our present known oil reserves will be exhausted in fourteen years, so the God is undertaking to procure oil from Saudi Arabia by way of a pipeline through Palestine, etc. This oil will not help in winning the war, for it will be years before the pipe line can be completed. However, it may involve this country in the next war, and may be the cause of American soldiers going to the place called Armageddon the valley of Jehoshaphat when the Lord gathers all nations before Him for that terrible battle.

The WEIGHT Of The SOUL

During the past few years sound leading physicians have been conducting a series of strange experiments with dead and dying people in order to discover if there is really such a thing as a soul. Their experiments have led them to the conclusion that there is, and that it weighs half an ounce!

Carefully adjusted scales of a large size were used at one of the hospitals in Boston. Persons known to be dying were wheeled into the weighing room on cots, which were placed on the scales. When the heart stopped beating and death ensued, it was found in every case that the scales registered about half an ounce less, and from this it was concluded the human soul—has weight and worth, though no humanly defined balance can measure it.

You smile, perhaps, and say that doctors are welcome to the results of their researches. Be it so. But remember that the soul your soul—has weight and worth, though no humanly defined balance can measure it.

The Bible, however, does not speak of your soul as a tangible part of your being like your brain, your heart and your lungs. Your soul is in contrast to your body, is your yourself. When you die, the lifeless form that is laid in the coffin is you no longer. Indeed, it never really was you, but was the house of flesh and blood in which the real you dwelt.

Now in the eyes of your Creator your soul is precious. Indeed, it is of priceless worth. In His esteem the man who barter his soul for the wealth of all the world has made a sorry bargain. He who would sell his soul for fame, for success, for gold for anything would be a loser by the transaction.

What makes the soul of such transcendent worth is its capability for eternal bliss. The most intelligent of the animal creation, the horse, the dog, the elephant, cannot vie with man in this. No creature on earth has the capability that the human soul has for knowing God, enjoying His love, and being supremely happy in His presence for ever. To lose your soul means to lose all that.

But it means more. For your soul is not only capable of infinite joy; it is capable of infinite misery. One or the other must be its destiny.

Let me repeat that your soul is yourself. It is you that we are talking about. You will either spend eternally, and the unceasing delights of heaven, or the indescribable woe to hell. You; you; you!

Now what do you propose to do? If you soul is of little account in your own eyes, let me assure you that there is One who knows its value. Your Creator, rather than leave you to perish without hope, has taken flesh and blood, and as

"But everything is free here, is it not?" I managed to scream, all the time becoming more electrified.

"Twenty-five cents, or the current goes on," was the imperturbable reply.

"All right! All right!" I answered "I will pay twenty-five cents." Braunstein laughed out loud at this kept on laughing as we walked out of the store.

As for me, I did not feel like laughing. That twenty-five cents represented hard work and painful saving and I was downright mad. I vowed that I would never again trust any signs in front of shows, which enticed me to go in for nothing and come out only after paying.

We walked on towards a little park on Avenue A. This was a space between streets, in which there were benches occupied by men and women, reading papers, sunning themselves, resting.

There were a few leafless, dried up flowers, but no sign of grass or trees. These had been trampled to death years ago.

And this was called a park. It was there, where Braunstein and I often went for a bit of relaxation and talk. While I listened, he talked of his great plans, smoked his cigarettes, and whenever available he ate popcorn for which I paid.

CHAPTER II.

Opposite the park there was a little store which was always closed; all others being open for business either weekday or Sundays.

Very often, during my second Sunday afternoons off, I would pass that store on my way to my sister, who lived only a few feet from the corner of it. I often lingered in front of this show window.

It evidently was a book store dealing in religious literature, in which there were not a few in New York City. Among the books, some closed and some open, there was a large picture, a lithograph in colors, illustrating Aaron the High Priest in all his glorious regalia, the brazenplate with the twelve precious varicolored stones on his breast, the precious vessels of one hand while the other was extended in a gesture of blessing over the huts and tents of the twelve tribes of the House of Israel.

My thoughts being always at home, far away, with my mother and my dear mother, I contemplated the picture and waited I was free during the week so I could by this picture and send it home. Father was rather fond of religious pictures. But since I was free only once second Sunday afternoon, and this store always closed when I was free, I sighed and passed on, for my time was short and I could not afford to waste a minute of it.

CHAPTER II.

Braunstein and I were sitting in the park for some time when he suggested that we take a stroll. We passed out of the park, when suddenly I noticed the door of the little store opened and a man went in.

"Hello!" I exclaimed. "Let us go! Let us go! There is something in this to purchase there."

We approached it, when the door opened and a little man emerged. Bareheaded, dressed in a Prince Albert coat, with rather long black hair brushed carelessly over his head he met us and, with a very pleasant smile, asked us to step in to the store.

"Please come in. You are welcome. We want you to come, and join us in every bit I know you will enjoy every bit of it. Step right in, my dear friends. Admission is free, nothing to pay."

"Did you say, admission is free?" "That's what he said," interrupted Braunstein.

"Wait a minute," I continued, "admission is free, how much for the exit?"

"For the exit, whatever can you mean?"

"Just this," I answered. "A little while ago we visited such a place as this, where admission was free. It was even printed in front of the store in large red type. We got in free, but it cost me twenty-five cents to get out, or they would have electrocuted me. I do not go into the same trap twice. No, sir, I do not go in! I thought this was a book store. But, if the admission as you say—is free, there must be some trickery. Have you any electric machines there, or some other contrivances to get the people's money away from them. Continued in the next issue."

We recommend to our readers first of all, the writings by Chas. S. Hilditch, Books which are the cream of 35 years bible study. They are pre-millennially rich and fundamentally sound.

Today we announce a booklet on the subject "The Identity of the Antichrist." I have read a few dozen of interpretations on that subject which I hardly would recommend to my readers but this 16 p. with all my heart. After you have read this booklet you will not fall into that delusion to state and believe in one month that Musoline is the Antichrist, in the next month that Hitler is the Antichrist, in the third month Hitler is the Antichrist and when all these three dictators have ceased from the political platform, fall back and declare that the Roman Pope is the one. Believers of the divine truth have finally to awake from their labyrinthine concerning this matter.

Blitz Technique On Garden Weeds

Experienced gardeners say that it is very important to destroy weeds when they are small to prevent them from using up the moisture and plant food that should be going to the young and growing vegetation.

Hoing during a bright summer day may not be very comfortable but it's the right kind of weather for establishing a beach head for further attacks. The enemies of the seedlings in the garden can be held in check and systematically exterminated with a flick of the wrist if they dare show their heads. Those which are strong enough to resist hoeing manoeuvres should be destroyed before their seeds have had a chance to turn into reinforcements.

Farmers are urged to check binders carefully and to order needed repairs in time to have them installed before harvest. The binder knife should be replaced if worn down because while the 1944 twine will be the best that can be manufactured in wartime still it will contain 121 per cent jute in the fibre.

From July 1943 to May 1, 1944 there were 18,500 reported infractions of National Selective Service regulations. Out of 750 prosecutions against employers, 113 charges brought 71 convictions while there were 200 convictions out of 375 prosecutions against employees. Employers were mostly charged for hiring periods with no work permit employees, mainly for failing to apply for and accept suitable employment when directed.

Canadians enumerated in the census showed 43.2 per cent as Roman Catholics; 19.2 per cent reported as United Church; 15.2 per cent as Anglicans; 7.2 per cent as Presbyterians; 4.2 per cent as Baptists; and 3.5 per cent as Lutherans. Over 97 per cent of the population of French origin were reported as Roman Catholics.

The work pressure will be on a full view picture of the war, a map, a photograph, a focus, and a list of 175,000 workers in essential industries and war plants. A three-way program has been launched with plants making and using shells heading the priority list; farming, metal mines, packing plants, are also in the top brackets. For instance, it is known that our railways need 7,000 track workers and transport in wartime is an essential. There will be personal interviews with men rejected as medically unfit for military service survey of plants to combat manpower hoarding; extension of compulsory transfer orders to industries not affected. About a million men were examined for military service, half of whom were found unfit; these now will be depended on to fill some of the jobs.

My favourite hero of the week: 25-year old Able Seaman Albert Hanley of Saint John, N.B. of the RCNVR. He went down to the ocean bed in ice-cold water to recover a charge laden with high explosive and two armed depth-charge pistons which would have blown him to bits had he stepped on them with his 20-lb divers boots. They were accidentally dropped over the stern of a destroyer. He could see less than ten feet, but in fifteen minutes had finished the job with cool aplomb. The naval base breathed easier.

held in Ottawa made number of significant recommendations for a well rounded program which will tackle a very important job, the future fitness of Canadians. Dr. W. C. Ross of Halifax hit the nail on the head with this observation: "Juvenile delinquency can be combated by the three-fold program of a virtue belief in God, an energetic school program and after-school activity so engrossing and interesting young people will have no chance to go astray."

If Canada and the United Nations had depended upon "Armchair Soldiers" to fight this war, the Nazis and Japs would have grabbed this country long ago.

There is no "Royal Road" to Berlin. It's fighting all the way and Canada's Army needs every man it can get. That's why, today, you should volunteer for overseas service. You'll need months of intensive training to make you fighting-fit.

Don't be a stay-at-home and let the other fellow do it. Get into a man's uniform with the G.S. badge of honour on your sleeve. If we're going to win this war, we'll have to do more than just read about it in the papers.

OTTAWA LETTER

A special Oil Treatment has been worked out by shoe manufacturers. This will lengthen by 25 per cent the life of sole leather in footwear and the public is all for it. It is not reasonable that there will be more shoe factories in the west. The hides are there and certainly there are many shoes worn. The market might just absorb the production of an economic unit. Then there is the question of getting more Woolen Mills. It was once thought that our western wool was not sufficiently good in quality. The strands were not uniform in size and there was too much chaff and there were too many burs in the wool. This really does not apply. I am now wearing a suit on Sundays made entirely of Alberta produced wool and find it to be of good average quality.

Some of our Munition Plants in the district are admirably suited for the making of Agriculture implements and could be used for such purposes after the War.

There must be concrete and adequate evidence of gratitude for the fighting forces and their dependents. They are the ones who are making the real sacrifice. Then there must be Social Security so that poverty will never again its hideous head again.

All favor these measures and definite steps are being taken and all have been taken to realize them. Public money must be used for such things as roads, schools and irrigation schemes. There is a place however for sound enterprise to provide employment and increase the national income which alone can make the Social Security plans ample and enduring.

The old family budget is acting up quite a bit these days, and no wonder. Nearly everything you buy has hit the ceiling. But there is one thing you can still obtain at the old pre-war price—electricity. And you still get the same dependable pre-war service.

Like your own living costs our operating costs have increased tremendously, too. Materials and machinery are harder to get and cost more. Payrolls and taxes, and all the expenses of making electrical service available at your touch of a switch cost more today.

It's the careful planning of past years—the policy of building for the future, for emergency conditions—plus efficient business management that enables us to continue the same high quality of electric service at pre-war rates.

ANSWERS for Victory Gardeners

What Is the Greatest Enemy to the Nation's Food Supply?

It has been estimated that in this country alone insects use up and destroy every year the equivalent of the labor of one million men. Only by constantly fighting the battle against insects with insecticide sprays and dusts are we able to come off even partially victorious against our small enemies.

What About Dusts to Control Insects?

When lead arsenate is put into water and then sprayed on vegetables, the water in the carrier which permits the lead arsenate to be sprayed over the leaves evenly. The water then evaporates, leaving the poison behind it so that the insect will get a mouthful no matter where he settles to eat a meal off the plant. Water is a good carrier while spraying an upright growing plant like a potato or a tomato vine, or even such plants as beans, especially if they are the climbing variety which have been carefully put up on poles, so that you can get at them; but real difficulties develop when an insect attack comes on low growing plants. An attack of mealy aphid can be a real problem for the gardener, especially if he has a large patch. He will be only too happy to turn to a dusting program.

How Do I Make Dust For My Garden?

Nicotine dust can be made easily, even by an inexperienced "hand" if the underlying principle is understood. Most insects found in the vegetable garden can be controlled with such a dust if lead or calcium arsenate in dry form is mixed with it. All that is required for an effective dust is to incorporate into dry hydrated lime dust a small amount of Black Leaf 40.

being careful to mix it in an airtight container so that no nicotine fumes are lost. Needless to say, the mixing job must be thorough.

How Strong Should the Dust Be?

For a good all around dust the amount of Black Leaf 40 should be 5% of the weight of the lime. If only a little dust is needed, 10 pounds of lime may be put in a tin can with a tight cover and 8 ounces of Black Leaf 40 added. A dozen small stones the size of golf balls should also be thrown in and the whole turned end over and end for five minutes.

A BAKING POWDER CAN WITH HOLES PUNCHED IN THE BOTTOM MAKES A GOOD DUSTER FOR THE SMALL GARDENER

How Do I Apply Dust?

A dusting gun is of course the best way to distribute the dust but if such is not available good results can be obtained by means of a baking powder can with holes punched in the bottom. The dust is taken to cover the under side as well as top of the leaves. Nicotine dust should be applied on warm days when the fumes are most effectively released. The air should be still—if the wind is blowing the fumes are blown away. Dust should be applied promptly when insects are first seen, and before infestation becomes heavy.

Can I Buy Dust Ready-Made?

In many localities packages of dust are put up conveniently by local concerns which mix the lime and Black Leaf 40 and offer it fresh to the trade.
